I wonder why some people have freckles...

I have been told many reason for my freckles, but I hate when people tell them to me. I hate it , for example, when they say, “The sun must have kissed you” or “The angels in heaven kissed you.” I wonder if I was born with freckles I wish I could get rid of my freckles. Maybe it’s true that you get freckles from the sun because they fade in the winter and come back in the summer. People that have freckles must be special. I wonder why I have freckles. I wonder if I will always have freckles. Oh well, freckles aren’t so bad after all, I guess.

I wonder why we have toes...

We have toes so that we can bump them into furniture in the dark, to test the temperature of the water in swimming pool, and to sift through sand at the beach to find pieces of seashell
