I wonder if animal have the same five senses that people do...

Many animals have the same five senses that people have. Monkey, horses, dogs, cats, and rabbits have eye, ear and nose that works very much like ours. However, some of these senses organs are much more sensitive than ours. For example, dog can hear very high-pitched sounds that humans can't hear. Dogs also have a better sense of smell than we do. Cats, owls and racons can see at night when we cannot. Fish helps them feel the movement of the water around them. It helps fish know if other water animals are around them.

I wonder why the dinosaurs became extinct...

Nobody knows why the dinosaurs became extinct, but scientists have some good theories. Some scientists think that a change in the climate killed the plant-eating dinosaurs by killing the plants they ate as food. Some think small animals ate the dinosaur's eggs. Huge floods or volcanic eruption could have killed plant and animal life. A large asteroid may have hit the earth, causing dust to block out the sun, killing plants and the animals that ate the plants. A comet shower or a star exploding nearby could also have killed the dinosaurs. As you can see, nobody know what really happened to the dinosaurs.
