I wonder why people have hair...

We have hair for protection from cold in the winter and for protection from the sun in the summer so our heads do not get sunburned.

I wonder how freckles form...

Everyone has tiny grains of colouring called melanin in their skin. In some people, the melanin is gathered in little spots called freckles. Some people are born with freckles, other get freckles from being out on nice, hot sunny day.

I wonder why we have the wax in our ear...

Earwax is very useful. It allows sound to go in the ear but keeps everything else out. The wax hangs onto little tiny hairs in your ear and catches anything that shouldn't be there and helps keep it out. Too much earwax can block sounds.
